RESEARCH INTERESTS

I'm interested in the dynamic process of learning motivation which is the key to better academic performance. As AI and e-learning spring up in educational and learning practice, understanding learner motivation is practical and crucial for instructional feedback. However, this research field lacks in-depth research. Thus, my research interests are:

- A. AI in Education: Machine Learning, Deep Learning, Data Visualization.
- B. Quantitative Methodologies: ANOVA, Chi-Squared Test, Regression, Multivariate Analysis, EFA, CFA, Path Analysis, Structural Equation Modeling.
- C. Qualitative Methodologies: Text Mining, Content Analysis, WordCloud.
- D. Substantive fields: Self-Determination Theory, Achievement Goal Theory, Instructional Strategies, Educational Testing and Measurement

COMPUTATIONAL AND ANALYTICAL SKILLS

Combining the experience of a process integration engineer with a background in electronic device modeling and simulation, I am proficient in big data analysis, using a variety of programming languages and software packages for different types of data. With a view to applying my analytical skills to educational fields, I can further combine web crawling, machine learning and deep learning techniques with data visualization skills and advanced statistical analysis to summarize insightful information behind these structured and unstructured data.

Statistics	✓	Perform a big data analysis by using R, SPSS, Mplus, LISREL, Python, Excel.
Web Crawling	✓	Create crawlers or robots (e.g. Facebook, Youtube, WOS, ERIC) for data mining by using Python.
Machine Learning	✓	Use machine learning algorithms for modeling, label classification, prediction by incorporating R and Python
Data Visualization	✓	Create educational dynamic dashboard by combining R, Python, Google Sheet, Google Data studio, and Google Cloud Platform.
